A LITTLE BIT ABOUT ME

@MAXEDOUTADVENTURES // WWW.MAXSULIK.COM

Connections with other individuals form the deepest source of meaning available to us as humans. These connections can be created in a variety of ways, for me, it's through taking photos, capturing memories, while simultaneously forming friendships that will last a lifetime.

I am a graduate student at Syracuse University in New York State, USA getting my MS in Mechanical & Aerospace Engineering. Outside of my classes, I work as a Campaign & Project Coordinator for Panta Pride Foundation, a nonprofit focused on sustainable development in Liberia, West Africa, and also as an Emergency Medical Technician.

Photography is what I can best describe as my creative outlet. My antidote to chaos in a very loud world. I particularly love projects and opportunities that allowed me to share the untold stories of everyday individuals making an impact in the world.

WHY I LOVE PHOTOGRAPHY

PEOPLE, PLACES, & MEMORIES

PEOPLE

The world is filled with unique individuals, each with their own story to tell. The most impactful memories come not from visiting a place, but rather from the people that you meet along the way. And sometimes, those friends have four legs, or have wings, or spend their life in the water.

PLACES

Landscapes are ever evolving, what is currently a bush could be a booming city in the future. As no place will ever be the same two days in a row, or even between sunrise and sunset, it's important to not only capture our world as we live it, but experience it simultaneously.

& MEMORIES

I was going to come up with some deep sort of philosophical segment to put here about how memories happen every minute of every day, and that we should document the things we love and that are important to us for down the road, but reading it back, I guess it's just as simple as that.

THOUGHTS...

Max is a pleasure to go out and create content with. His upbeat and highly creative way of thinking allows for a fun and enjoyable experience for everyone involved. I always look forward to our next adventure together, knowing great memories will happen as a result.
